

The Get Safe Online Summit 2009

Date: Monday, 16th November 2009
Time: 10.30 am to 1.00 pm
Venue: BIS Conference Centre, 1 Victoria Street, London SW1H 0ET
Subject: Get Safe Online Summit 2009

The Get Safe Online internet safety and security initiative is now in its fifth year, and the Summit kicks off this year's Get Safe Online Awareness Week.

Attending the Summit will:

- Update you on the Get Safe Online initiative
- Provide an insight into the key internet security issues and threats facing the UK
- Launch the results of new research commissioned by GetSafeOnline.org
- Feature speakers from government, law enforcement and industry
- Give you the opportunity to put questions to our expert panel
- Include a networking session and buffet lunch

The Summit is aimed at representatives from organisations and businesses that want to champion the safe and confident use of the internet for their customers and audiences.

To request more information, please email summit@getsafeonline.org.

Places are limited and attendance criteria apply.

Summit Agenda

Welcome and introduction

Tony Neate, Managing Director, GetSafeOnline.org

Keynote address

Government Minister

Collaborating for online confidence

GetSafeOnline.org roundtable discussion, moderated by Tony Neate

Reducing harm in the virtual world

Paul Evans, Director Intervention, Serious Organised Crime Agency, including a demonstration from a SOCA online security expert

Internet Security – state of the nation 2009

Garreth Griffith, Head of UK Risk Management, PayPal

Achieving digital inclusion for older people

Nancy Johnston, Technology & Digital Inclusion Development Manager, Age Concern & Help the Aged

Panel session

Q&A session with the speakers and GSO.org sponsor organisations

Conclusions and next steps

Get Safe Online is a joint initiative between the Government, the Serious Organised Crime Agency, and public and private sector sponsors from the worlds of technology, communication, retail and finance to raise awareness of internet security, and help individuals and smaller businesses in the UK to use the internet confidently and safely.